Jan 27-Feb19 Dearly Departed A comedy by David Bottrell and Jessie Jones	In the Baptist backwoods of the Bible Belt, the beleaguered Turpin family proves that living and dying in the South are seldom tidy and always hilarious, even during their earnest efforts to pull themselves together for their father's funeral. Amidst the chaos, the Turpins turn for comfort to their friends and neighbors. The whole family of misfits manages to pull together and help each other in this drop dead funny and quirky look at a southern family funeral.
March 23-April 15 Lost in Yonkers By Neil Simon (no Easter Sunday performance)	A Pulitzer Prize-winning play of an eccentric New York family in crisis in the summer of 1942. On the run from a loan shark, a frightened and weak-willed father leaves his two teenage boys, Jay and Arty, with their domineering grandmother, who runs a candy store in Yonkers. The effect of the old woman's tyranny over two generations of offspring becomes evident as she coldheartedly attempts to control not only their lives but also that of her mentally challenged middle-aged daughter, Bella, who desperately yearns for love and independence. The boys are forced to live by their stern grandmother's rules until their gangster uncle, Louie, comes to town one night and goes into hiding in the family home. Uncle Louie ends up helping both the boys and Bella understand their aging grandmother and realize the importance of acceptance and love, despite the hardship of life in Yonkers.
May 18-June 10 Diary of Anne Frank A classic for all times. Dramatization by Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett	Diary of Anne Frank was a dramatization of the book Anne Frank: The Diary of a Young Girl , the personal account of a teenage Jewish girl in hiding with her family in Nazi-occupied Amsterdam. The diary, first published in the U.S. in 1952 and considered one of the most single important documents of World War II, has been translated into 55 languages and has captured the hearts of readers all over the world.
Aug 10-Sep 2 Laundry and Bourbon and Lonestar By James McLure	A hilarious portrait of the goings-on in the dusty one-horse town of Maynard, Texas. In Laundry and Bourbon Elizabeth and Hattie sit on the porch folding laundry, sipping drinks and gossiping. They're soon joined by the self-righteous Amy Lee, who can't resist blurting out a bombshell: Elizabeth's husband, Roy, has been seen around town with another woman. In "LONE STAR" we meet Roy, who's back from Vietnam and anxious to begin his life again. As he drunkenly recounts his military exploits, his younger brother Ray confesses a shocking secret that makes Roy question his entire life.
Oct 5-Oct 28 Deathtrap A thriller by Ira Levin	A spine tingling and nail biting thriller by Ira Levin which encompasses many plot twists and is essentially a play within a play. It is a play in two acts with one set and five characters. It holds the record for the longest running comedy-thriller on Broadway and was also nominated for the Tony Award for Best Play. This is one not to be missed!
Nov 30-Dec 23 The Full Monty A musical with a book by Terrence McNally and score by David Yazbek	In this Americanized musical stage version adapted from the 1997 British film of the same name, six unemployed Buffalo steelworkers, low on both cash and prospects, decide to present a strip act at a local club after seeing their wives' enthusiasm for a touring company of Chippendales. One of them, Jerry, declares that their show will be better than the Chippendales dancers because they'll go "the full monty" — strip all the way. As they prepare for the show, working through their fears, self-consciousness, and anxieties, they overcome their inner demons and find strength in their camaraderie.
